WHY JAPAN ?

Japan's healthcare sector represents one of the most strategic growth markets globally, driven by structural demographics and strong public funding capacity. With nearly 30% of the population over 65 and healthcare expenditure accounting for around 10–11% of GDP, demand is predictable and long term.

Market opportunities concentrate around high-growth segments:

- Silver economy & chronic disease management
- Digital health & AI diagnostics
- Medical devices
- Regenerative medicine

Japan is a premium, innovation-driven ecosystem. Success requires regulatory alignment, local partnerships, and long-term positioning. But the upside lies in high-value segments with strong innovation or added value.
